But in this chapter we only cover the use of aggettivi qualificativi: descriptive adjectives that describe qualities physical or otherwise of person or thing, and classifying adjectives, such as nationality, that describe the category or classification that the person or thing belongs to. See also Chapter The other types of adjectives will be Managing Power And People in Chapter 3, together with the corresponding pronouns. But as success mounts they are faced with decisions that begin to fray the fragile fabric of their love affair, and the dreams they worked so hard to maintain in each other threaten to rip them apart. Something of the same kind is, or till lately was, carried on in Denmark, where Managing Power And People, or, as we should translate it into Yorkshire, Easter laakin', is a term well understood, where old and young, men, women, and bairns, meet in the green fields near the town and play all manner of games.
